

Agave bovicornuta Cow's Horn Agave

This bold, stunning agave has broad dark green, lance-shaped leaves that are edged with decorative red-brown to yellow marginal teeth and terminal spines. This solitary agave (i.e., no offsets) is native to Sonora, Sinaloa and Chihuahua Mexico. Since full sun or reflected heat exposures can result in some sunburn on the leaves, a filtered shade exposure is ideal. Place it under large specimen trees or in patio containers. After flowering, this plant will die.

AT A GLANCE SUMMARY
SIZE (H X W)	4 feet x 4 -5 feet
FLOWER COLOR	Yellow - Green
FLOWER SEASON	Flowers at the end of life cycle and then dies
EXPOSURE	Part Shade
WATER	Low
GROWTH RATE	Fast
HARDINESS	20° F, USDA Zone 9
PRUNING	None

ACCENT