

Eremophila hygrophana Blue Bells™

Petite shrubs are always popular, and this little evergreen plant combines stunning purple flowers with silvery foliage. It closely resembles a Texas ranger, but this shrub is native to the deserts of Western Australia. Showy tubular flowers attract hummingbirds to the garden almost year round in the Phoenix area. A full sun exposure and good drainage are preferred. At 17° F, tip damage occurred on test plants, but recovery was rapid in the spring. Try Eremophila hygrophana Blue Bells™ in front of Eremophila maculata 'Valentine'!

AT A GLANCE SUMMARY

SIZE (H X W)	2-3 ft tall x 3 ft wide
FLOWER COLOR	Purple-blue
FLOWER SEASON	Fall through spring
EXPOSURE	Full sun, reflected heat
WATER	Low
GROWTH RATE	Moderate
HARDINESS	17° F, USDA Zone 8
PRUNING	Minimal shaping

SHRUB